Doubt Adlai's Report

Governor Is Asked To Prove Address Brought a Flood Of Congratulations

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson's staff was challenged today to produce proof that the Democratic nominee's radio-television address to the nation Monday night brought an immediate flood of favorable telegrams.

Newsmen showed Stevenson's assistant press secretary, Murray Flanders, a Chicago Daily News story saying only 340 telegrams had turned up and that Western Union officials reported no unusual number of messages was sent.

"It isn't true," Flanders said of the story.

Ask Proof of Reply
Reporters asked some proof of his position.

Flanders was the Stevenson aide who said yesterday that "several thousand" telegrams had poured in as a result of the Monday address.

Another aide, who keeps tabs on some of the telegrams and mail, said telegrams were arriving in about as great volume today as yesterday, and that the mail was beginning to reflect the reaction to the Monday speech.

The speech was Stevenson's first direct-to-the-people nationwide address without a "live" audience of any kind. In it, the Illinois governor warned that the fight against Communism will be long and difficult and the burden of it rests largely upon the American people.

Bears Down On Reds
Stevenson bore down on the Communism issue on another front today—the issue of Reds in government. His stand was that the GOP is making a "ludicrous" claim that it could easily solve the problem of Communist penetration in government.

There seemed to be little question that telegrams arriving at Stevenson's headquarters in greater volume than ever before as the result of a campaign speech. This reporter personally leafed through perhaps 200 of them, yesterday and today.

The only one that might be considered at all critical said the sender was "deeply impressed" by the speech but wondered "whether some of your eloquence of expression isn't a bit above the level of some of your listeners."

Occasionally a telegram showed up indicating the sender was a converted Republican.

One From Republicans
One from Philadelphia came in during the night saying "I am a Republican but I believe the American people would do themselves a favor if they voted for you."

Get Interesting GOP Data
The Democratic presidential nominee and his staff intensified, too, efforts to win over independent and other voters through a nation-wide organization of volunteers for Stevenson. Some 200 leaders of volunteer units from 37 states assembled here today for a major political rally.

Stevenson could find time only for a brief reception for them tonight at the gubernatorial mansion.

The Illinois governor was busy, among other things, on a speech for next week to be built almost entirely on the explosive Communist issue.

Volunteers Are Visitors
The volunteers had a day of business, strategy and financial huddles on their program.

Their national publicity director, Porter McKee, said some "interesting revelations" regarding Republican campaign plans and funds were coming out. These, McKee said, were to be made by George Ball, Washington, D. C. lawyer and executive director of the volunteers.

Ball was scheduled to address a business session around 2:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. Wilson Wyatt, Stevenson's campaign manager, was billed for a speech at a dinner meeting and the volunteers' appointment with Stevenson was for 9 p. m.

Ring Up Records
Whether we like it or not—and we don't—the weather has been hanging up records by the fist full the past few days while refusing a drink to the parched and thirsty land. Its hottest weather for this time of the year and coupled with what's gone before it gives us the warm distinction of having seen the summer with the most days when temperatures were over the 90 degree mark.

COOLER TOMORROW
Fair and cooler tonight and Thursday. Low tonight near 50. High Thursday in middle 70s.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 62; 81 at 1 p. m. and 82 at 2 p. m.

Elevator Strike Forces 400,000 To Climb Stairs

CHICAGO (AP) — A strike of about 1,350 Chicago elevator operators today practically paralyzed 143 office buildings and forced about 400,000 office workers either to climb stairways or stay away from their jobs.

Affected by the first such strike in Chicago's history were most of the city's skyscrapers, including the Board of Trade Building, 44 stories; Civic Opera Building, 45; One North LaSalle Street, 49; Field and Lincoln Tower buildings, both 42; 138 West Randolph, 45; Buildings not represented by the Building Managers' Association were not affected by the strike.

These included the Merchandise Mart, only 24 stories tall but so large in area of floor space that it is the largest commercial building in the world, and the Wrigley Building, shining white skyscraper landmark at Michigan Boulevard and the Chicago River.

Martin J. Dwyer, president of Elevator Operators and Starters Union, said emergency service would be provided where conditions warrant it. Included in this list are hospitals, hotels, government buildings, department stores, and the Illinois Bell Telephone Company Building.

Most of the affected buildings had elevator service during the night. Many persons spent the night in their offices to avoid the long climb today. They slept on couches, in lounges, and on desk tops.

The strike was called for 6 a. m. CST. The chief issue is a union demand for a cut in the work week from 48 to 40 hours, and an unspecified wage hike also.

The association offered a pay raise of two cents an hour, which the union rejected.

Current weekly wages are $76.96 for operators and $83.46 for starters.

Columbia U. Newspaper Comes Out for Adlai, Against Ike

NEW YORK (AP) — Columbia University's student newspaper today declared its opposition to Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, the university's president on leave, and gave its support to Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson for the presidency.

The campus newspaper, "Columbia Daily Spectator," said Eisenhower in his presidential campaign had forsaken "principle for expediency" and shown himself a "plodding, orthodox, unimaginative thinker."

"The hopes of millions of Americans who once believed in Eisenhower's great crusade have now been shattered," the paper said in a front-page editorial, and added: "Consider the low level of Eisenhower's speeches. While Stevenson has expressed his opinions on every major topic, Eisenhower has usually contented himself with a throw-the-rascals-out kind of campaign."

Dedicates Hungry Horse Dam—

Truman Says Ike Turned On Projects After Move to GOP

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN (AP) — President Truman, dedicating the 108-million dollar Hungry Horse Dam, accused Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today of turning against such projects after learning "the Republican party line."

Truman said the Republican President's coolly calculated attempt to "give a thumbs up" to private power monopolies and if he is elected, "it will be a long time before you see another structure of this kind."

It was another speech in the President's coolly calculated attempt to destroy Eisenhower's prestige in a "give 'em hell" campaign tour from coast to coast.

Truman is working the role of the Democratic party's "hatchet man" with the calm and relentless assurance of a veteran campaigner going about familiar work.

Leaving his campaign train at Columbia Falls, Mont., he viewed the dam and drove on to Kalispell for a dedicatory speech in the high school gymnasium.

Better Look It Over
"All of you who are here today had better go over and take another look at this dam, because if the Republicans win this election, it will be a long time before you see another structure of this kind," Truman said.

"The Republican candidate for president made it perfectly plain in a speech in Boise, Idaho, a few weeks ago that he was against dams like this," the President added.

And he said Eisenhower now accepts the "Old Guard" view that dams like Hungry Horse, and government transmission lines, and low cost public power "are part of the 'creeping socialism' of which the slogan writers for the power monopolies talk."

Eisenhower, Truman said, had "adopted the line of the private power monopoly."

Sees Change in General
The President cited what he said was a change in view by the general after he became the GOP nominee. He said Eisenhower, visiting the Boulder Dam last June, learned it was self-liquidating, and declared: "Here we have a perfect example of doing something for all the people and doing it intelligently."

It was after "many men" visited Eisenhower at Denver following his nomination, the President declared, that the general changed his tune.

He quoted Eisenhower as saying at Boise this country has a government applying the philosophy of the left and adding:

"The government will build the dams, the government will tell you how to distribute your power, the government will do this and that, the government does everything but come in and wash dishes for the housewife."

Truman went on to say: "We Democrats will plead guilty to building the dams. And as far as washing dishes is concerned, we have made a lot of progress on that too."

"Guilty of Building Dams"
"We've made it possible for housewives to get cheap electricity so that they can afford to have electric washers to do the dishes, and we have brought electricity to millions of homes that never had it before. And this has been done over the opposition of the Republicans and the utility companies."

And he said he wanted to make it clear that "no one can accuse the Republican party of doing anything to help the housewife wash the dishes."

Hungry Horse, the world's fourth largest, third highest concrete dam, towers 564 feet above the bed of the south fork of the Flat Head River.

Truman said that Rep. Mansfield (D-Mont.), now running for the Senate against Sen. Ecton (R-Mont.), was the man, more than any other, responsible for the dam, and "he is the man you are going to send to the Senate this year."

Truman said Eisenhower had accepted the view such projects are "socialism," but that he would "like to say to the Republican candidate that the public power in this country is just as much a part of the American system as the public schools or municipal waterworks, or the postoffice or the national forests."

Truman said the Democrats won't let propaganda about "socialism" scare us into failing to develop our resources."

He charged that when the appropriation for Hungry Horse was before Congress, "the Montana Power Company sent its Montana fight against it," telling a Senate committee it wasn't justified, that there was "no market in Montana for power" and that his company could carry all the load.

This engineer, Truman added, said "he didn't think there ever would be a shortage of power out there."

Parolee Taken Here For Kansas Officers
Marvin Powers, 20, 421 East Third, was picked up at the Courthouse today when he went there to report on his parole.

Powers was taken into custody by Howard Boswell, Missouri State Parole Officer. He is being held for investigation as a parole violator.

He is on parole from the State of Kansas, relatives in Sedalia. Powers reported he is married to a 14-year-old girl and was married in Kansas City.

He is being held in the county jail.

Report Robbery Sunday At Boat, Near Marshall
Tom Long, who operates the Boat, which is a store about four miles south of Marshall on 65 highway, reported Monday morning to the Saline County sheriff's office that his store had been robbed of about $50 in cash Sunday evening. Entrance was gained to the building by breaking a rear window.

M. Long said he knew the robbery occurred sometime between 8:30 and 9 o'clock because that was the period he was absent from the store that evening. He lives at the store.

Home Runs Come To Feature Game Over In Flatbush

BROOKLYN (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers, with display of home run power, won the opening game of the 1952 world series today, beating the New York Yankees 4 to 2 before 34,861 spectators.

The Dodgers scored all their runs on homers — one each by Jackie Robinson, Duke Snider and Pee-wee Reese — as Joe Black, the rookie relief artist, checked the Yankee batters.

The Yanks also had one homer, by Gil McDougald, as Black and Allie Reynolds, veteran Yankee ace, waged a brilliant pitching duel until Snider made his four base wallop with Reese on base in the sixth inning.

FIRST INNING DODGERS
Cox chased Noren back run, the left-center fielder for his lower left. Reese watched a fast ball whizz by his knees for a third called strike. Mantle loped in to get under Snider's high fly behind second base.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNING YANKEES
Berra's sharp grounder skidded off Hodges' glove but Robinson, backing up the first baseman, retrieved the ball and tossed to Black, who covered first, in time to get Berra out. Collins sent a high fly to Furillo in short right. Noren raised a high pop to Reese.

One run, two hits, no errors, none left.

THIRD INNING YANKEES
McDougald lined a home run in to the lower left field stands. Martin went down swinging. Berra also struck out. Bauer was called out on strikes.

FOURTH INNING YANKEES
Rizzuto lined a single over Reese's head.

Mantle bunted and beat Black's throw to first with a great burst of speed. Rizzuto advanced to second.

Hodges grabbed Berra's hopper on the first bounce and threw to the right fielder's accurate throw to the plate forced Rizzuto to scamper back to third. Berra stayed glued to first. Robinson scooped up Noren's roller and tossed to Hodges.

No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

FOURTH INNING DODGERS
Reese lined to Mantle who made a fine running catch in left-center. Snider smashed a double to right field wall. Robinson walked. Campanella rapped a hot grounder to Martin who tagged Robinson and whizzed to Collins at first for a double play.

FIFTH INNING YANKEES
McDougald walked. Martin looped a single over third but McDougald was cut down at third by a fine throw by Park to Cox as Martin took second on the throw. (Please turn to Page 4, Column 3)

Crowds Jubilant

Estimated 32,000 Greet Him Today In First Two Stops On Michigan Visit

ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower, blasting the Democratic leadership in Washington to the thundering cheers of huge crowds gathered at every stop.

The Michigan drive began impressively and gave an added boost to the optimism among the GOP command. The presidential candidate drew an estimated 12,000 at Bay City and a few minutes later another estimated 20,000 at Saginaw.

Eisenhower hammered at the theme that he is on a crusade for good government based on a determination to achieve a program of collective security. And he praised the record of the late GOP senator Arthur Vandenberg, Sr., in striving for a bipartisan approach to foreign policies.

Hits Foreign Policy
He accused the administration of crushing a bipartisan approach to foreign policy by trying to take all the credit for the good things and blaming Republicans for the bad.

He promised that if elected president he would cooperate with Democrats and make them "real partners" in working out basic foreign policies.

Eisenhower gave this declaration in a speech at Flint, Mich., as he carried his time-for-a-change campaign westward on a 28-state drive that could make or break his presidential hopes.

Optimism was running high on this push through Michigan into states that will have 361 electoral votes out of the 531 total—or more than enough to swing the election in his favor if he can carry them.

Stops In South Carolina
Eisenhower carried with him the warm memory of a rousing welcome in Columbia, S. C., yesterday where 50,000 people roared "We want Ike."

They cheered his attacks on President Truman and the Democratic presidential nominee, Adlai Stevenson, and his bold bid for the state's support.

On the steps of the historic old South Carolina State House, James F. Byrnes—once a friend of President Truman and one-time secretary of state in the Truman Cabinet.

A lifelong Democrat, Byrnes called for people to put their country above a party label and to elect Eisenhower as the man who could clean up "the mess in Washington" and prevent a third world war.

To Start Commie Drive
Eisenhower gave a hint, before leaving Columbia, that he is ready to launch an attack on Communism—in government at almost any time.

In Columbia, he openly bid for the people's support against Stevenson.

Byrnes, introducing the general, said the people of South Carolina "know if the Democratic candidate knows he is under such obligation to President Truman he would have to continue the Truman policies and many of the Truman appointees. He has embraced the policies and the appointees have embraced him."

"The people of South Carolina know that the job of cleaning up the mess cannot be entrusted to the man who made the mess," Byrnes ended his introduction by saying: "If we want to avoid a third world war, to bring an end to the war in Korea and bring an end to corruption in Washington, we can best do it by electing as president of the United States the man I present to you, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Americans Must Lead World Morally, Hays Tells WCTU Convention

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Americans must be the moral leaders for world peace, Congressman Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) told the closing session of the 78th annual Women's Christian Temperance Union Convention here last night.

"We must," said Hays, "give the movement for world peace much more than government support. We must give it moral content and spiritual power."

Donnelly Pledges To Enforce Laws

PARIS, Mo. (AP) Phil M. Donnelly, Democratic candidate for governor, pledged here last night he would see that Missouri laws are enforced if he is elected — just as he did as governor from 1945 to 1949.

He said his record in law enforcement is well known but he reiterated "I shall see to it that all laws of the state are enforced fairly, impartially and with prejudice to no group."

Sentner Bond Cut

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The $25,000 bond set for William Sentner, one of five Missouri second string Communist Party members indicted here recently, was cut to $15,000 yesterday.

He said his record in law enforcement is well known but he reiterated "I shall see to it that all laws of the state are enforced fairly, impartially and with prejudice to no group."

A baby fell out of her high chair on her head and after the first yells subsided she began to doze. That is a bad sign, to want to go to sleep after a bump on the head, and the young parents became frantic. They tried to get the doctor, who is a neighbor, but couldn't reach him. Father was trying all kinds of antics to keep the baby awake and the mother was running around trying to find something that would tell her what to do in such a situation.

Then she had a thought. "My Girl Scout first aid book," she cried breathlessly. "Maybe it will tell what to do."

Whether she found the solution for her problem in the Girl Scout book, she didn't say — for they later found out that all that was wrong with the baby was that she was just sleepy — because she had missed her afternoon nap.

It was quite a scene, however, for the doctor's small son who happened to be visiting in the home at the time. When he got back home he told his mother all about the baby falling out of the high chair and what happened afterward and ended up with telling about the Girl Scout first aid book.

"And so," he said. "Her mother looked in the Girl Scout Second Hand book to see what to do."

At 93 She'll Vote For First President

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. — Mrs. Dollie Lamon Teillard, whose father was Abraham Lincoln's law partner, will vote for the first time in November, and for the Republican presidential candidate too.

Although 93-year-old Mrs. Teillard practically grew up in the lap of politics, she was living in France when women won the right to vote in 1920. And after returning to this country about 12 years ago, she lived in Washington, D.C. where residents do not have the right to vote.

She moved here more than a year ago—long enough to qualify for this year's election.

When shopping for curtain fabrics, it is wise to figure on yardage twice the width of the space to be covered, so that attractive fullness may be obtained in draping. Curtain-buyers also should make an allowance for lengthwise shrinking, especially if the fabric bears no label showing that it is pre-shrunk. The buyer also will do well to examine labels indicating color fastness.

Gen. Eisenhower's Investments Include Lipstick Company

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON — Gen. Eisenhower's income taxes, when and if published, will contain some small and interesting enterprises that the public doesn't know about. There's nothing wrong about them, but the public doesn't ordinarily think of a five-star general investing in a lipstick company or a restaurant.

However, Eisenhower has stock interest in the "Charm-More" company which puts out lipsticks. He was one of the original investors when the company was first organized.

He also owns part of a Howard Johnson restaurant in Washington, D. C. George Allen, the former White House jester got into this deal, along with another famous Democrat, Ed Pauley, the big California oil man. The restaurant is located in downtown Washington.

He also has his farm in Gettysburg, which he bought through George Allen.

Only one embarrassing thing in Ike's income tax returns in addition to the generous capital gains tax which the treasury let him pay on the $1,000,000 received on his book, is an exemption on his house received while president of Columbia.

In 1948 the general wrote the treasury asking that his house, plus 12 servants and upkeep not be considered as income since he was required by the university to live there. The treasury ruled in his favor, gave him tax exemption on his Columbia expenses.

In contrast, the treasury has balked at letting waiters, waitresses, bellhops, chambermaids, who also may have to live in hotels, deduct their meals and lodging. These must be treated as taxable income, except under certain circumstances.

For instance, waiters in restaurants do not have to treat as income a noon-day luncheon served while they are on duty; but cannot deduct dinner at the end of the day if served to them when their work is over.

Nurses who have to live in hospitals were finally given more favorable treatment than waiters, though only after a long treasury wrangle; whereas Eisenhower got his ruling without any trouble.

The man who gave him the ruling on both the book, which saved him about $500,000, and the house at Columbia was Charles Oliphant, who resigned after bitter criticism by Republican congressmen.

Note — At Columbia, Eisenhower received his regular army pay of $13,751, plus three aides or stenographers, plus a car, in addition to Columbia University remuneration.

DAWN unveiled herself like a woman in a frigid bathroom, and was showered by the tempest.

"I don't know what to do," the Governor said. "I don't see how I'm going to explain my presence here in a third-class tourist court when I ought to be in Birmingham." He shrugged. "Roy, when Bill calls I guess we'd better have him issue a story that I'm deathly ill, or something like that. That I'm aboard the train, too ill to see anyone."

"That means no speech," I said. "That means no Hydetown reception. But I guess it's the only way out, Governor."

"Willie, why don't you come back with me to Hydetown?" John Mills suggested. "Put out a story that you dropped into the old home town as a surprise, a day ahead of schedule."

"And passed up my Birmingham speech for that?" the Governor said, and shook his head. "That won't hold water, John."

"Can't the local radio station pick up your speech to Birmingham, Willie? You got radio time anywhere, haven't you?"

The Governor groaned. "National radio time! Eight to 8:30."

"Then you can make your speech from Hydetown, Willie."

"There has to be an explanation that will satisfy Clyde McDonald," the Governor said. "That's as tough as explaining a night out to your wife."

I sat up straight. "Governor, where is your wife?"

He looked surprised. "Why, Roy, she stopped off for a rest. You know that."

"Yes, but where is she?"

"She's due in Hydetown a day ahead of Warburton Day."

I jumped to my feet. "I've got it, Governor, I've got it!"

They both looked at me, without much hope. I said, "John, you know a doctor you can trust?"

"Sure," John said. "Doc Arnold."

"Then he's our man," I said.

"Our man for what, Roy?" the Governor asked.

"John and I will meet Ruth when she gets off that train," I said. "She was exposed in the gale. She's got double pneumonia. We rush her to John's house and call Dr. Arnold in. We stick her in an oxygen tent. We tip off the reporters that you're rushing across country to her bedside, then John drives over here and picks you up and you dash to the hushed house, give the boys a pale, tired smile, and hurry in to stand by your stricken spouse."

"It's a wonderful idea," Lucy said. She had joined us a minute before.

"Then we can arrange for you to make that Birmingham speech by radio from John's house," I said. "It will be heart-rending stuff, too. The Governor leaves his wife's bedside to meet his campaign obligations."

"It might do," the Governor said. "Roy, I think it will have to do. I can't say I like it. I'll feel like a charlatan, but I don't see any other avenue. Yes, that's our program. We'll do it."

I LOOKED at my watch; it was past 7 o'clock. "Take us a long time to get there in this storm," I said. "John, we'd better start."

"Okay, Roy," John said. "Willie, you stick tight here. Don't even put your nose out."

"How about that telephone call from Bill?" the Governor asked. "Someone will have to take that call, and I'll be the only man in cabin nine."

"I'll send Bill another telegram," I said. "I'll have him call John's house in Hydetown."

"Yes, good," the Governor said. "So we're set," I said. "Except for one thing. Except Ruth had better be on that train!"

"She'll be on it," said John Mills. "There's a women's committee to meet her at the depot. My wife is chairman of it."

I groaned. "She'll probably get off looking healthy as a horse."

Last of Series On Schools—

Cost of Proposed New State School Program Still Same

JEFFERSON CITY — A special commission got down to dollars and cents today in explaining the financial operation of its proposal for bringing Missouri's public school system up to date.

The commission, following a two year study, estimated the basic cost would be about $120,000,000 a year — around the same price as Missouri is paying for the present school operation.

The commission said the new plan would eliminate the 14 school aid funds now handled by the state on a confusing basis. Instead cooperation between the state and the school districts would be based on only four key levels — instructional services, transportation, other current operating services and capital outlay.

The commission said the state should foot the bill for about two-thirds of the basic school cost — or an estimated $80,000,000 a year. The local school districts would have to pay the other one-third. And, if local districts wanted to boost their school programs even above the basic plan they could do so. The extra cost would be borne by the districts themselves, however.

The idea behind all that, the commission said, is to help the districts reach the basic — or foundation — education level. It also encourages the districts to improve their local programs even more.

The commission called the present public school system a patchwork of additions to an education plan that was unsound at the outset and didn't improve much. Its proposed program, to be offered to the legislature next January, would fit the available education money into a budgeted plan that would give each youngster a satisfactory schooling, the commission said.

The study group noted that some districts provide practically no local financing for the schools, depending almost entirely on the benevolence of the state.

Others try hard to meet the school costs, frequently causing an extraordinary tax burden for local citizens.

The study commission suggested that its plan be based on each local district's ability to pay taxes.

As a starter, the commission recommended that each district be surveyed for its tax paying ability. Then each taxpayer should be considered able to kick in about 80 cents on the $100 property valuation for school financing.

So, if a county could, based on its ability to pay taxes, pay as much as $100,000 toward the county schools — but only contributed $50,000 — Missouri would use the $100,000 figure in setting what state aid was available there.

Then the counties or the local districts would be forced to check again whether they were carrying their full share of the burden.

The program called for this breakdown in the cost of the four basic school needs:

1. Instructional services — for schools of more than 200 pupils the total average cost per pupil in attendance should be divided by 27 to get the

John frowned. "That's a fact. See here, Roy, I could put you aboard that train next stop up the line. If we hurry we can make it. But we've sure got to hurry. It's 30 miles beyond Hydetown."

We started for the door, but Lucy Strawn cried. "Hey, you can't leave me here. You can't leave the Governor checked in at an auto court with a girl, even if she is his secretary." She grinned at Governor Warburton. "Particularly if she's his secretary, I guess."

The Governor nodded. "That's right, Lucy, you'd better go along. I'll sit it out here." He put out his hand. "Roy, that was quick thinking. Good work and good luck."

IN that gale John Mills could not drive faster than 30 miles an hour. I computed the distance. Forty miles to Hydetown, another 30 miles to the town where I was to board the train. Seventy miles at 30 miles an hour was well over two hours, and it was already nearly 8 o'clock. The train was due at that town at 9:25, according to John's recollection. That left us considerably less than two hours for the trip.

"John, we'll never make it at this rate," I said.

"Can't go any faster, Roy. Can't see."

"Maybe Roy had better drive," Lucy suggested.

John pulled to the side of the road and I took the wheel. I was as cautious a man as he, but I was younger and my reflexes were more elastic, so that I pushed the car up to 45 and was probably averaging 40. It was a strain, trying to see the road through the rain, and to hold the car on it against the mighty wind.

As we entered Hydetown, John pulled out his watch and said, "It's 9:00, Roy."

"That leaves us 30 minutes," I said. "And 30 miles to go."

"We won't make it," John said glumly.

I put on the brakes and made an abrupt, skidding turn. "I'll drop you off here at the station, John, and you can wait. Lucy and I will go on."

number of teachers needed. In smaller schools the average attendance should be divided by some figure between 20 and 26. (It takes smaller classes in little schools to give adequate instruction.)

Then add for additional personnel: One teacher unit for each teacher employed to help handicapped students or for each vocational education class. And divide the total number of units by eight to get the number of supervisory employees needed for the school.

The commission suggested a minimum of $3,000 for each teacher unit.

2. Transportation — Figure the cost of getting the youngsters to and from school, taking into consideration the number that must be transported and the average distance each must be carried. In other words, the cost per pupil in sparsely inhabited areas would be more than in heavily populated districts.

3. Other current operating services — the commission suggested that for things like administration,

Warden to Offer Food to Strikers

SALT LAKE CITY — Warden Marcell Graham of Utah State Prison said today he planned to pass out bread to nearly 500 sullen prisoners who have been on a "do-nothing" strike since Sunday.

The inmates have refused to work or eat. They have not created any disturbance nor asked to have their grievances heard.

Graham said he believed they were protesting the State Pardons Board's interpretation of regulations providing time off for good behavior. But none of the convicts have communicated directly with him.

The last regular meal served to the inmates was at 4 p. m. Sunday. But Graham said some custodial service, insurance, heat, lights and water the cost should be estimated by allowing $300 a year for each classroom unit plus $15 times the number of youngsters in average daily attendance.

4. Capital outlay (The school building, grounds and equipment) — The commission figured the cost at $400 a year for each classroom unit. But it warned that to get the district's reorganized into larger, more economical districts, the capital outlay money should be released only for "Recognized permanent school centers."

The whole idea, the commission is to encourage bigger, better equipped schools and guarantee enough financial support to keep them up to snuff, even to allow them to continue an improvement plan.

The 22 - member commission, headed by former State Sen. M. C. Matthes of Hillsboro, concluded that the proposed new program would be a big improvement in Missouri's school system.

But the commission warned that it would take continued study and re-assessment to fit any program into changing conditions.

Trail Ride Held By Saddle Club

A trail ride and picnic dinner was held Sunday by the Sedalia State Fair Saddle Club with 50 members riding to the farm of Mr. and Mrs. R. Chancy by the Abel bridge.

Much discussion was held on the forthcoming Fall Roundup and Rodeo to be held the first part of October.

There was a lot of good natured kidding on the trail ride, too, with R. Chancy offering to bale leaves for B. Fisher as his horse seemed to be hungry; the energetic auto dealer, W. A. Crowling getting down on all four under a wagon after eating, which was really a feat; the horse that decided to go back after reaching the bridge and Mr. Rust, who set up a table on eight empty beer barrels.

There was some missing at the trail ride, Sunday, Sedalia's champion steer rider, who made the sensational ride at Ottaville on the bump-bump-bump.

Yes, says Phillip Pfeiffer, it was a big day for the saddle club with horse trails and tales of other kinds strung around the picnic grounds.

Scott Webber Tells Optimists Of New SS Laws

Scott Webber, manager of the Social Security Office in Sedalia, was the speaker Tuesday noon at the Optimist Club meeting held at the Bothwell Hotel.

Mr. Webber, who was introduced by Lee Deason, program chairman, told of the changes that had been made in the Social Security law. The payments will be increased beginning with the September checks which will be in the mail Oct. 3, 1952. Beginning in September, Mr. Webber said, a person may earn as much as $75 a month and still accept monthly old-age and survivor insurance payments.

The Social Security wage credits for military service from July, 1947, through December, 1953 may be used in figuring monthly payments beginning with Sept., 1952, the speaker said. Mr. Webber pointed out that changes in the law make it possible to pay full benefits or to pay them more promptly in case of retirement or death in 1952.

The meeting was presided over by Charles Hanna, president.

House Probers Say McGrath Not Enthused Over Clean Up

WASHINGTON, (AP)—House investigators said today that former Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath showed "no enthusiasm" for the Justice Department clean up—rather, he "appeared to wish to delay and frustrate investigation."

From their findings, investigators said, it appears clear that the Justice Department under McGrath wanted to prevent an examination of its files for reasons which "cannot but arouse suspicion."

McGrath, fired last April 3 by President Truman after the administration clean up drive bogged down, was raked over for a second time in Part II of a report by a House judiciary subcommittee.

Chapter 1 of the report, issued last Monday, criticized McGrath's appointment of Newbold Morris, New York lawyer, to head the clean up campaign and questioned McGrath's good faith in making the appointment.

In reply, McGrath commented simply that "the report is beneath the dignity of men who care to be honest and honorable."

Advised of today's second installment, the former attorney general told a reporter he had no intention of "engaging in a cross-fire of discussion on each of the committee's interim reports."

"I shall wait until they have concluded their work," he said, "and at that time I shall say what I think is appropriate."

In today's installment—the third is due next week—the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Chelf (D-Ky.), pictures McGrath as an official who exhibited "a deplorable lack of knowledge of the department he was supposed to administer."

His testimony and his record as attorney general indicate that he was content to let the status quo remain without knowing what the status quo was.

In particular, investigators said of McGrath:

1. He made "inappropriate appointments to high office"—specifically, the appointment of A. Devitt Vanech as deputy attorney general, investigators said, had made "improper representations to gain admittance to practice before the Tennessee and U. S. Bars.

Vanech was shown by investigators to have failed the District of Columbia Bar examinations three times and the Virginia Bar examination once before being admitted to the Tennessee Bar as a non-resident.

2. He (McGrath) had little interest in purging the Justice Department of "wrongdoers and incompetents," and gave little aid to Newbold Morris after naming him to direct the ill-fated housecleaning in Washington last spring. McGrath fired Morris just before he himself was forced to resign by President Truman.

3. He failed "completely" to cooperate with Chelf committee investigators and "surrounded himself with subordinates of the same view."

Investigators added, however, that "in fairness to Mr. McGrath" it should be noted the majority of his subordinates were originally placed in top positions by Tom Clark, McGrath's predecessor who now is a Supreme Court justice.

One was Vanech, the report noted. Another was T. Lamar Caudie, fired by President Truman over McGrath's head as chief of the Tax Division last November following tax scandal disclosures.

The report devoted considerable space to the committee's difficulties in obtaining information from the Justice Department prior to the appointment of James P. McGranery as attorney general.

The report said delaying and hampering tactics were employed by McGrath, and subsequently by Acting Atty. Gen. Philip B. Perlman.

Investigators said the interest of department lawyers seemed less in catching wrongdoers than "in seeing how little could be done without bringing on a showdown, and in keeping the work of their department from the scrutiny of any outside eyes insofar as it might be possible."

"Such an attitude on the part of Department of Justice personnel is bound to raise questions as to whether it seems from fear of exposure of corruption or inefficiency within the department," the report said.

man over McGrath's head as chief of the Tax Division last November following tax scandal disclosures.

The report devoted considerable space to the committee's difficulties in obtaining information from the Justice Department prior to the appointment of James P. McGranery as attorney general.

The report said delaying and hampering tactics were employed by McGrath, and subsequently by Acting Atty. Gen. Philip B. Perlman.

Investigators said the interest of department lawyers seemed less in catching wrongdoers than "in seeing how little could be done without bringing on a showdown, and in keeping the work of their department from the scrutiny of any outside eyes insofar as it might be possible."

"Such an attitude on the part of Department of Justice personnel is bound to raise questions as to whether it seems from fear of exposure of corruption or inefficiency within the department," the report said.

Some of these reasons individually might be defensible, but in the aggregate so many reasons for nondisclosure cannot but arouse suspicion that at least some of the reasons were more excuses."

Waugh Again Tops Rushers In Early Play

ST. LOUIS, (P)—Fullback Howard Waugh, the nation's third best individual rusher with the nation's No. 1 offensive eleven last season, is off and running again.

The University of Tulsa's footballers played their first game of the season last Saturday, trouncing Hardin-Simmons, 56-27, with Waugh scoring three touchdowns. Waugh cracked out 185 yards, net, in 13 carries for a 14.2 average.

That total put him well out front in the individual rushing statistics of the Missouri Valley Conference, where Tulsa, for the likes of Waugh, is expected to win its third straight title.

In just one game, Waugh totaled a net yardage of more than twice that accounted for by any other Valley ball carrier—some of whom have played two games. S. M. Meeks of the University of Houston comes closest with a 92-yard net in 18 carries.

Tulsa's Ed Hughes, a halfback, tops Waugh's average, however. He hit the Hardin-Simmons line three times for a 70-yard net gain and a 23.3 average.

Other individual leaders include quarterback Bobby Clatterback of Houston, who tops the Valley passers in yardage with a 297 total on 18 completions. Tulsa's Ron Morris is No. 1 on a completion basis, hitting seven of 11 passes for 176 yards on five passes, and Tulsa's Tom Miner, with 119 yards on four passes, tops the MVC's pass receivers. Both are standout ends listed prominent in pre-season breakdowns.

Ken McCullough of Oklahoma A. & M. is the best punter to date with a 42.4 average in eight boots. Waugh, meanwhile, has the scoring leadership with 18 points.

Teamwise, Tulsa again appears on the move offensively, gaining 603 yards on the ground and in the air in its only game thus far. Detroit, in one game, has the best defensive showing, holding Valley member Wichita to a total yardage of 236 while winning 22-7.

Otterville Riders 'At Home' Sunday

The Otterville Boots and Saddle Club enjoyed an "at home" Sunday evening at the club rooms. Members viewed the sportsman-ship trophy that first drill master, Leo J. Smith, received at the Western Circus at Ionia that afternoon. Mel Overstreet received honorable mention.

The club participated in a greater number of the events at the circus and received several awards, one being a leather bag. Ionia is the newest member of the Missouri State Saddle Club Association.

Good Start
NOTRE DAME, Ind. (P)—Neil Worden, junior fullback on the four touchdowns in his first college game against Indiana. All four scores came within six minutes during the second quarter. This touchdown avalanche occurred in the 1951 game, won by the Irish, 48-6.

Last Minute Quotes of Two Hurlers Who Start the Series

BROOKLYN (P)—Last-minute quotes from the opposing pitchers in the opener of the World Series today at Ebbets Field.

Joe Black, Brooklyn—The ball I feel right now it's just another ball game. The Yankees don't awe me at all. After watching them work out, I realized they were just another ball club. They're a good ball club, but the Dodgers seem to be a pretty good club, too.

Allie Reynolds, New York—I feel okay. I know that the series starts today. I believe we're up for the game. I know I am, and that's about it.

Out fielders Carl Furillo of the Brooklyn and Gene Woodling of the Yankees, each of whom is nursing a slight injury, are not worrying. Furillo's left hand is taped. "The only time I feel my pain is when I'm swinging at one and miss it," said Carl. "But the handage helps."

Woodling's groin injury seems to have healed and he said he felt "fine" when he lifted his bat.

Commissioner Ford Frick laid down a couple of rules to keep the games going at a brisk pace:

1. No more than four men to gather around the pitchers' mound when the hurler is in distress.
2. The batter must run toward first base immediately after a dropped third strike. I he doesn't he's out.

Latest line had the odds on the Yanks to take the series, 8-9. Translated to man-to-man betting, a Yank supporter has to give 9-5 while a Dodger fan can get 8-5, second games at 6-7.

This isn't like the old days in Brooklyn. Not a parade, nor even a demonstration. When the Brooks came to town, the Yanks were won in '41, you would have thought the million had arrived. Now it's habit. Even Dodger rooters are getting blasé about it.

Iowa State Loses Big, Good Lineman

KANSAS CITY (P)—Iowa State's hopes of shocking the Nebraska Cornhuskers in a Big Seven conference football opener at Lincoln Saturday hit a snag last night.

The nationally televised and broadcast 10 rounder will start at 9 p. m. (CST).

Fiery little Pep owns one of the greatest boxing records in history, being defeated only five times in 174 pro bouts since 1940.

Two of those defeats came in the last year. He was knocked out in the ninth round on Sept. 26, 1951, trying to regain his featherweight crown from Sandy Saddler. Last June 30, Pep was stopped in six by Tommy Collins.

The classy little mauler from Hartford, Conn., claims five victories since the Collins scrap. In Savoie, Pep will meet a rugged battler who has won 34 fights, 20 by knockouts, lost seven and fought four draws. The 24-year-old Savoie is shooting for a lightweight title bout with the winner of the Oct. 15 match in Chicago Stadium between champion Lauro Salas and Jimmy Carter.

Pep figures to weigh 128 pounds, four less than Savoie.

Pep held the feather crown from 1943 to 1948 when Saddler moved to start one of the most bitter ring feuds in boxing's modern era. Saddler is now in the Army.

Tulsa Maintains Lead In Total Offensive Gains

NEW YORK, (P)—Tulsa University's Golden Hurricanes, leaders in total offensive in college football last season, have picked up right where they left off last fall.

The Missouri Valley Conference champions opened their 1952 campaign by rolling up 603 rushing and passing yards while whipping Hardin-Simmons Saturday, 56-27.

This put Tulsa on top of the list in the first 1952 team figures compiled by the NCAA service bureau.

Tulsa had 427 rushing yards and 176 via the air, as a year in 11 games Tulsa rolled up 5,282 yards, 1,611 (Fla.) is second in total offense with 495 yards gained, all but 46 yards on the ground, giving the Hurricane's first place in rushing. Miami trounced VMI 45-0 in its opener.

Wisconsin, completing 14 of 21 passes, against Marquette, netted 237 yards in the air to lead in that department.

Virginia is the early leader in total defense, allowing Vanderbilt 63 yards, while Navy is tops in rushing defense, holding Yale to six yards. Virginia's forward passing defense, a minus two yards, tops that department. Utah posted the best early punting figure, a 49-yard average.

Winning Strides
MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (P)—Two star West Virginia University pitchers who led Mountaineer baseball teams to victory last spring are now playing Class B organized ball. Dick Morgan is on the Roanoke squad in the Piedmont League and Stan Stahurski plays for Harrisburg in the Interstate League. Both won their initial games for their respective clubs.

Willie Pep Hits Comeback Trail Against Savoie

CHICAGO (P)—Willie Pep, trying to hit the road back to the featherweight title at the age of 30, will tangle with Canada's lightweight and welterweight champion, Armand Savoie, tonight at Chicago Stadium.

The nationally televised and broadcast 10 rounder will start at 9 p. m. (CST).

Fiery little Pep owns one of the greatest boxing records in history, being defeated only five times in 174 pro bouts since 1940.

The 24-year-old Savoie is shooting for a lightweight title bout with the winner of the Oct. 15 match in Chicago Stadium between champion Lauro Salas and Jimmy Carter.

Pep figures to weigh 128 pounds, four less than Savoie.

Pep held the feather crown from 1943 to 1948 when Saddler moved to start one of the most bitter ring feuds in boxing's modern era. Saddler is now in the Army.

Tulsa Maintains Lead In Total Offensive Gains

NEW YORK, (P)—Tulsa University's Golden Hurricanes, leaders in total offensive in college football last season, have picked up right where they left off last fall.

The Missouri Valley Conference champions opened their 1952 campaign by rolling up 603 rushing and passing yards while whipping Hardin-Simmons Saturday, 56-27.

This put Tulsa on top of the list in the first 1952 team figures compiled by the NCAA service bureau.

Tulsa had 427 rushing yards and 176 via the air, as a year in 11 games Tulsa rolled up 5,282 yards, 1,611 (Fla.) is second in total offense with 495 yards gained, all but 46 yards on the ground, giving the Hurricane's first place in rushing. Miami trounced VMI 45-0 in its opener.

Wisconsin, completing 14 of 21 passes, against Marquette, netted 237 yards in the air to lead in that department.

Virginia is the early leader in total defense, allowing Vanderbilt 63 yards, while Navy is tops in rushing defense, holding Yale to six yards. Virginia's forward passing defense, a minus two yards, tops that department. Utah posted the best early punting figure, a 49-yard average.

Winning Strides
MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (P)—Two star West Virginia University pitchers who led Mountaineer baseball teams to victory last spring are now playing Class B organized ball. Dick Morgan is on the Roanoke squad in the Piedmont League and Stan Stahurski plays for Harrisburg in the Interstate League. Both won their initial games for their respective clubs.

Arrest Of 16-Year-Old Here Ends Long Series Of Thefts

Charles Jack Bender, alias Charles Shurton, Steve Martin and Rollie Martin, 16-year-old of Fargo, N. D., was apprehended by the State Highway Patrol, near 16th and Osage, about 2:30 p. m. Tuesday after Trooper Earl Gregory fired one shot from a riot gun at him. The youth suffered a slight flesh wound in the right side.

Bender told Sgt. William S. Barton of the Highway Patrol, who was also in on the chase, Troopers Gregory, Pete Stohr, Glenn Means and Wayne Allman, of a robbery party which started in Salt Lake City, Utah, and carried him through Utah, Colorado, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and into Illinois. He admitted more than 50 house robberies, and said there could have been possibly more than that number, gaining anything from a drink of ice water to clothing and money.

In the past several weeks a prowler has been reported by numerous Sedalians, as have several house robberies and car thefts. The automobiles taken here were found later. Local police were unable to get any clue to the incidents.

A tip was given Trooper Gregory early Tuesday of a car, bearing an Illinois license, prowling around several neighborhoods. The number was obtained and Gregory checked with the Highway Patrol, which in turn checked the Illinois Patrol and found it was a stolen car.

The boy had been seen driving the car with several Smith-Cotton high school students. Sgt. Barton went to the high school with Gregory, the latter dressed in civilian clothes. They spotted the car and Gregory began to watch it, while Barton went into the school and called for one of the students who had been seen with Bender.

The student went to the office and talked with Sgt. Barton and informed him the boy was sitting in his class room.

When they got to the room the boy had disappeared. Barton started a search. In the meantime the youth went out the back door to his car. As he neared it Trooper Gregory identified himself telling the boy he wanted to search him. Gregory was unarmed and as he started the search the boy ran. He started between two houses, found a bicycle and started south on Lamine. The boy stopped a car, rode two blocks, Gregory also hailed a car and followed.

Bender left the car and started out on foot again. Trooper Gregory in the meantime met Sgt. Barton who gave him a riot gun. Gregory saw Bender enter a barn and ordered the boy to come out. When he broke to run again and Gregory called to him to halt, the boy ran faster so the Trooper fired, which stopped him.

Late Tuesday night the boy gave a complete statement.

He said he had been apprehended in Fargo, N.D., for a burglary in Burbank, Calif., and was being extradited to California on the train, with a detective from Burbank. When the train arrived in Salt Lake City, the detective went to the diner leaving him unguarded. Just before the train pulled out he got off the train and hid out until late that night. He said he then started hitchhiking. This was on Aug. 8.

In a small town about 25 miles west of Denver he robbed a home, getting $25, went to Denver where he robbed several homes, obtaining about $50. His tour then took him to Omaha, Neb., Council Bluffs, Ia., Beatrice, Neb., where he had hoped to find his father. (His mother and father are separated and his mother is married again and living in Fargo). He then went to Lincoln, Neb., where he robbed a house and got $85.

Next he came to Kansas City and robbed several homes, getting money, and bought a bus ticket to St. Louis. He robbed several homes in St. Louis where he bought a riding horse for $150, but never called for it at the Missouri Stables Inc. His trips took him back to Kansas City, into Sedalia twice, and then to Carbondale, Ill., where he stole the 1952 De Sota sedan which he had at the time he was apprehended.

In Carbondale he robbed several homes, and on his way back to Sedalia he robbed several homes in St. Louis and then came to Sedalia.

Here in Sedalia he admitted robbing the home of Herman Pack, 602 South Washington, stealing a Packard sedan for the joy ride and abandoned it at Fourth and Massachusetts. He robbed the home of O. E. Palmer, 604 South Washington, the same night. Later he robbed the home of Mrs. Clara Schick, 1023 East Fourth, the S. O. Streby home, 1312 West Broadway, provided a house at 1808 West Broadway, and tried to enter the home of James Woods, 612 South Park, and another house at 506 South Park.

He walked into a house in the 1500 block on East Broadway and got a bottle of milk, this being across the street from Trooper Gregory's residence.

He entered the home of Thurlow Puckett, 1106 South Lamine, and stole his pants, his wife's pocketbook and a 1952 Cadillac sedan, which he took for a joy ride. He also prowled at 1220 South Ohio.

(The Puckett car was found later by Charles Siron, a driver for Tullis-Hall.)

He admitted robbing several homes in Marshall obtaining money and clothing.

About 1:30 a.m. Tuesday he robbed the home of H. H. Ream, where he obtained money, part of which was recovered, tools and two knives.

In the sedan were two suitcases loaded with clothing stolen from Carbondale and other places. Three pairs of pants, which he sold for $3, were recovered from a high school boy.

He is being detained for further questioning at the Pettis County jail.

Animal Health Pharmacy

by A. B. Warren
IMMUNIZATION and TREATMENT

Although many agencies are cooperating in educating farmers in preventing losses of farm animals from disease through immunization (vaccination) and proper and prompt treatment, many farmers hesitate to accept the "new way". The losses in Pettis County alone are terrific... just from those that we are told about. If there was some way of getting a complete picture of the total losses I am sure that it would be almost unbelievable.

Not all of these animals could be saved even with such wonderful drugs as the anti-biotics and sulfas, but many of them could be. I have said many times that a farmer should certainly know as much about his own business as possible, there are no secrets about the use of these disease fighting agents. All that is required is an open mind and the will to help yourself.

Man's fight against disease in livestock and poultry as well as in man, has been greatly aided by the knowledge that certain diseases can be prevented by vaccination. In spite of recent outstanding progress in the discovery of new, highly effective medications, prevention by vaccination is still the most reliable, effective, and practical way to control many common diseases. Disease can never occur without causing some type of damage or loss. To insure profits and avoid losses of livestock a vaccination program for immunizing against disease should be well planned and carefully followed.

We have pamphlets that are free of charge that will inform you on just about any animal health problem. Let us help you.

Only 7 US Jets Downed

September's Air War Cost Commies At Least 62 MIGs

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The Air Force announced today that only seven American jets were shot down in the furious September air battles that cost the Reds at least 62 MIGs.

The announcement came soon after the Allies opened another month of air blows with a massive B29 attack against a sprawling chemical plant only 40 yards from the Manchurian border. An armada of 48 Superfortresses dropped about 425 tons of high explosives on the Namsan plant in one of the biggest B29 raids of the war.

The Air Force said the Reds threw up "meagre to moderate" ground fire. All B29s returned safely.

Brightly colored pennants fluttered on the Western Front as Chinese Communists celebrated the third anniversary of the founding of their Red regime. The Reds added a gruesome touch by displaying the body of a dead American soldier before one forward position.

Savage close-in fighting flared on the Central Front west of the Pukhan River when a company of Chinese tried to capture an Allied hill position.

The hand-to-hand fighting lasted nearly two hours. U.N. troops, stood their ground and forced the Chinese back with bayonets, grenades and fists.

The U.S. Eighth Army said the Reds lost 3,171 men killed, wounded and captured last week in ground fighting.

The B29 attack on the Namsan plant was the first of the war. An Air Force spokesman said it was "one of the most important industrial facilities in North Korea." It produced tungsten, carbide, black lead and other chemicals used in making munitions.

The bombers made their runs in single file through a network of searchlight beams and ground fire from both sides of the Manchurian border.

Near Venezuela's Caroni River is an open mine, El Pao, which has begun sending iron ore to the United States.

Commies Use Body Of GI In Festival

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP) — A Chinese outpost flanking T-Bone Hill displayed bright pennants and the body of a dead American today, apparently in celebration of Communist China's Independence day, Oct. 1.

An Allied officer said he believed the dead American was a sergeant lost on patrol a few days ago.

Dip In Farm Prices May Cut Food Cost

WASHINGTON (AP) — A dip of 2 per cent in average farm prices, drop, held out some hope today for lower food costs.

The decline in prices of farm products as a whole during the month that ended Sept. 15 was reported late yesterday by the Agriculture Department.

At the same time the department said average prices paid by farmers dipped only 1 per cent so that farm prices averaged 101 per cent of parity, compared with 103 per cent both a month and a year ago.

Parity is a standard used to compute farm prices that give farmers a fair purchasing power judged by a past favorable period. The most favorable recent period for farmers was October, 1946, when farm prices averaged 122 per cent of parity.

More livestock are moving to market now as a result of a period of high prices and so market prices were 15 per cent lower than a year ago and lowest since June, 1950, just prior to the Korean War.

Movement of more potatoes to market after a record crop also pushed prices downward as much as 50 cents and more a bushel. They averaged $2.22 a bushel in mid-September and $2.78 a month earlier.

Milk and other dairy prices moved in the opposite direction, probably because of widespread drought and high prices for livestock feeds. The survey showed an 8 per cent increase in average dairy prices and the highest average for any September in 43 years that records have been kept.

Prices of things that farmers buy, including some foods at retail, were down slightly for the month.

But offsetting this were higher prices for sugar, corn meal, flour, coffee, milk and eggs.

The total length of New York State canals is 525 miles.

Bryan Reports

Trieste Visited—City Two Countries Claim Yet Its a Free Territory; Strategic Location Causes Great Value

By Rev. David M. Bryan
Pastor of the First Christian Church of Sedalia, Mo.
On Round-the-World Tour.

TRIESTE: U. N. Trusteeship. From Venice I have now moved on up here to the tiny free territory of Trieste on the very northern tip of the Adriatic Sea. For a long time this city has been one of the sore spots in international relations. It lies right on the border of Italy and Yugoslavia, and both countries lay loud and noisy claims to its ownership. Following the last war no solution of the problem could be found, therefore for the sake of peace the United Nations was forced to form the free territory of Trieste under its own Trusteeship. The United Nations has two regiments of troops stationed here on police duty. One is British and the other is American. The head of the Trieste police force is an English general appointed by the United Nations, however the actual work of civil policing is done by local officers, mostly Italian.

Why is Trieste a prize so important that two nations were prepared to fight for her possession. She is by no means an imposing city. She dangles on the upper tip of the Adriatic with the mountains rising precipitously to her rear and with Italy on her west and Marshall Tito's Yugoslavia on her east. The entire territory can boast a population not much larger than that of Kansas City. Before coming here I was prone to wonder why these two nations were both so intractable in their claims to the ownership of Trieste. However, a glance at the map will demonstrate the strategic location of this Adriatic port.

Trieste's strategic location between two nations and at the head of an important sea makes her a valuable commercial as well as a military prize. She has one of the fine harbors of this part of the world and a walk along her shipping docks indicates something of her value. She is one of the chief ports for commerce between Europe and the Middle East and is now especially important as the channel of commerce between Europe and the Balkan Iron Curtain countries.

Here on her docks one sees load after load of goods destined for such countries as Hungary, Yugoslavia, and Bulgaria, or for Egypt, Lebanon, Syria, and other Middle East countries. As a commercial port alone Trieste is a prize to which any country would be most reluctant to relinquish claims.

Aside from being an important commercial port in a strategic military location, Trieste also has other assets that help keep Yugoslavia's Marshall Tito and Italy's De Gasperi estranged. Before the war she was the center of quite an extensive shipbuilding industry. Some of the great ocean liners have been built here at her docks but her industry now specializes in a smaller commercial type of vessel. Also here in an oil refinery processing crude oil most of which is imported from the Middle East. She also has a large olive oil processing plant whose raw materials also come mostly from across the Mediterranean and also possess several smaller industries. She boasts too of quite a sizable fishing fleet and as I look out my hotel window tonight the lights on these fishing boats make the bay look like a city.

As one of the few civilians living in a hotel occupied almost exclusively by American army officers, I have had opportunity to visit with several of them. None of them feel there is any solution to the Trieste problem in the near future although all of them would be glad to give the city to almost anyone if they could only get home. They do say that the explosive tension on the Yugoslav border has greatly decreased in the last few months. Whereas not long ago border patrol duty was fearsome, with the situation almost on the brink of exploding into open battle, it is now a casual duty with the danger past, at least for the time. Several million American dollars have been spent to bolster the economy of Yugoslavia and to strengthen Marshall Tito's army. It is true abroad as well as at home that the dollar is often an effective soothing balm for irritations and hurt feeling. Even as I write Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is in Belgrade hoping to expedite some solution to the bitter dispute over this city. However, even Mr. Eden himself expects to accomplish little in this respect.

Visiting with our boys here in Trieste has been one of the fine experiences of my tour. They have driven me about and enabled me to see the territory in a way otherwise impossible in so short a time. I have visited the large D. P. camps, another thing for which Trieste is now famous, and have seen first hand the depressing, often hopeless existence, of some of Europe's thousands of homeless refugees. Lt. Powers from Florida took me to army headquarters where I had valuable visits with several of our men, including the chaplain of the post. The boys here enjoy good food and good quarters but the territory offers little diversion for them and their training and discipline is unusually rigorous. The best comedy on their life is the fact that a great number of men sent here almost immediately volunteer for Korean duty. Our boys consider Trieste as the least desirable station in Europe.

For those who are following my travels I shall leave Trieste in the morning going back into Italy with a short stop at Milan. From here I shall travel north by rail through the Simplon Pass and the beautiful Alps to Geneva, Switzerland. When I leave there I shall fly into Germany. My next report will probably come from Berlin.

Spare the Rod, Teachers Are Told

LONDON (AP) — Teachers in schools run by the London County Council are being urged to go a little easier on the rod. In a booklet on punishment put out by the council today, the teachers were told:

Don't paddle the kiddies too often—with nervous children it's quite indefensible.

Don't stand them in the corner—it's especially bad for delicate children.

Don't keep them after school too long—they may have to get home through heavy traffic.

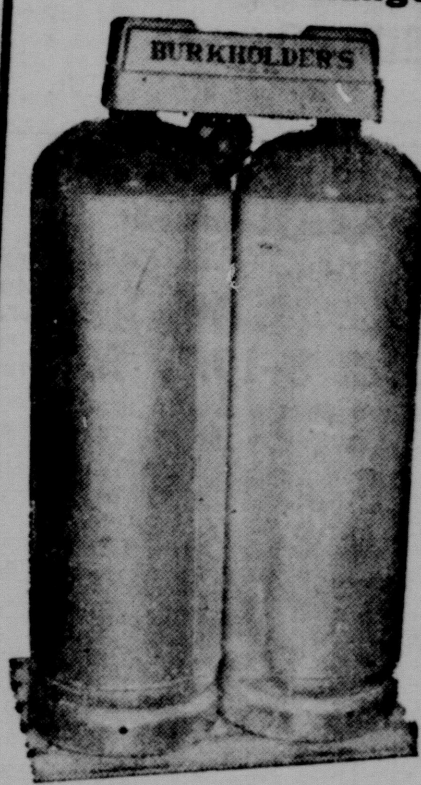

And, above all, don't be sarcastic. It's fear-inspiring and a dangerous weapon which children will go to any lengths to avoid.

The booklet failed to say exactly what teachers should do to keep children from getting out of hand.

it's not what you do

Sure, you think right is on your side. He thinks it's on his side. Better make sure the "right" you mean is not a "right hook!" If there's an argument let those who are experienced decide. That's why we have judges and juries.

it's the way you do it

Same idea goes with your laundry and dry cleaning, too. It takes a professional to do an economical job. Your wife can save time and hard work by using our low cost service. Give you both more free time, too!
